

Welcome to the city that never sleeps! With more than 37 million visitors, nearly $9 million in gaming revenue, approximately 131,000 hotel rooms and nearly 23,000 conventions, Las Vegas is one 24-hour party.

When locals aren't out on the Strip, they're buying everything from baby strollers to patio sets to DVDs. (T-1462 currently ranks No. 68 in patio furniture sales companywide.) Poker chips and gaming equipment are also big sellers, especially during the holidays, and during poker tournaments in June and July.

But when team members were asked what the most popular pastime is, Pat Elliot, T-850 ETL-HR, said, "Staying cool in your backyard grilling and enjoying the pool after the sun goes down."

Even a place deemed wild and crazy can be tame.

Sure Bets in the City of Lights

Community commitment:

T-1243 volunteers during "Safe Street," an event sponsored by the North Las Vegas Police Department where children can trick-or-treat in a safe environment and enjoy festive decorations. They won first place for the best booth decorations in 2004.

Frightful events: Halloween parties on the Strip, Fright Dome at Circus Circus Hotel and Casino, Oktoberfest and Nevada Day (Nevada became a state on Oct. 31, 1864).

Ghoulish outings: Sightseeing at Hoover Dam, boating on Lake Mead and hiking up Mt. Charleston.

Celebrity "scares": Country singer Martina McBride, "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" host Robin Leach and rapper Too Short.

Favorite Rat Pack crooner: Frank Sinatra

T-850 team members pose in the aisles.

Joe Egbert, T-1243 STL, a.k.a "Elvis," contemplates his next song.

D203 Target Volunteers help out at Safe House, a Las Vegas nonprofit with batterer treatment programs and services for victims of abuse.

